The programme was broadcast on weekends only and was broadcast from 1992 until 2002. Description Phil Williams, an optometrist originally from Plymouth, presented the programme as a series of chat-based round-ups on the BBC Breakfast television news show. He covered topics from the day's news as well as those that often get pushed to one side by the main news presenter, such as sport, entertainment, travel, life, health and many more. The show was broadcast from 1992 until 2002 and was broadcast on Saturdays only on BBC Breakfast. When it was broadcast as part of the Newsnight franchise there was no need to pre-record the show, making it easy for guests to appear. When the show was re-presented as part of BBC Breakfast, Williams continued to interview guests in the same manner as before. It was hosted from a purpose built "Breakfast TV Studio" in London, and occasionally guests from around the world were interviewed. History The programme was originally broadcast from 1991 to 1992 and won a Royal Television Society
